

Electronic Health Record in Cardiology: Pilot Application in the Czech Republic

Jana Zvarova, Petr Hanzlicek, Josef Spidlen

*European Center for Medical Informatics, Statistics and Epidemiology – Cardio, Institute of Computer Science, Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic
Pod Vodarenskou vezi 2, 182 07 Prague, The Czech Republic
<http://www.euromise.org/>*

Abstract

The EuroMISE Centre-Cardio is focusing on new approaches to electronic health record, considering also the Czech healthcare environment. The development of new approaches is based on experience gathered in I4C and TripleC projects of the European Union. In the paper we discuss basic requirements on electronic health record and special needs of the Czech healthcare system. Finally, pilot application named MUDR implementing proposed concepts is described.

Keywords:

Electronic Health Record, Health Information System, Biomedical Informatics